

A large choir of men and women, dressed in dark clothing, is performing in a church. They are holding sheet music and singing. The church interior is ornate, featuring a large, ornate altar with a central figure and two flanking statues. The altar is decorated with gold and red. The choir is positioned in front of the altar, and a conductor is visible in the center. The lighting is warm, highlighting the choir and the altar. The background shows the church's architecture, including columns and a balcony.
